Mr Tompkins is the title character in a series of four popular science books by the physicist George Gamow. The books are structured as a series of dreams in which Mr Tompkins enters alternative worlds where the physical constants have radically different values from those they have in the real world. Gamow aims to use these alterations to explain modern scientific theories.

Although physics is a serious matter and a fundament to other great science theories, this book also uses satire and romance to provide a better understanding. For instance, in one of his adventures, Mr. Tompkins becomes an electron and experiences the dance around an atom, bonding with another electron and becoming a free electron.
